

'What did you do?' everyone asks when you're out in the street,
There's only one subject they talk about no matter whom you should meet,
'What did you do when the power went off?' – well we looked out the window a lot,
Convinced we wuld see a tile sailing past or a fence that was leaving the plot!
I hope that you were as lucky as us and that all of your roofing stayed put,
But I did wish that I had a treadle machine and could carry on sewing by foot!
And what about the name of that storm – do you think it rhymes with tiara?
I hear that Storm Dennis is coming along – but at least it is Ciao to Ciarra!!
